LANG'S

Auction, Incorporated
The World's Leading Fishing Tackle Auction

A non-profit, educational corporation since 1990

“The purpose of the Old Reel Collectors Association, Inc., is education through the collection and distribution of historical and technical data regarding fishing reels, their development and their inventors and manufacturers from the earliest times through the present day.”

ORCA members share a passion for antique and collectible fishing reels. The history, beauty, craftsmanship, value and nostalgia of these reels attracts many to learn more and to collect them.

ORCA offers both novice and serious collectors a wealth of resources. If you share an appreciation for old reels, we invite you to join us. Your ORCA membership includes many great benefits that you'll find nowhere else.

The Reel News

Through it's bimonthly magazine, The Reel News, ORCA gives you the information you want and need. The Reel News contains the latest information about reels, manufacturers, developers, and historical data. Regular columnists discuss reels on the internet, baitcasting reels, spinning reels, and other topics.

Each issue contains news from shows and auctions around the country, reel book reviews, questions and answers and columns devoted to reel-ly neat stuff. Also included is an annual roster of members, catalogued alphabetically with collecting interests and email addresses.

“Reel Talk”

"Reel Talk" is a message board and forum devoted to questions and answers about collectible fishing reels. Members are kept up to date with breaking announcements as they occur. There are separate forums for buy, sell and trade, and comments about items appearing on the eBay auction site.

ORCA Convention

The annual ORCA National Convention is unique. Held in a different city each year, the event offers the usual show-and-room trading, and also seminars, an antique tackle casting contest, antique tackle fishing tournaments, and a member's dinner. The ORCA convention is a social and educational experience you won't soon forget.

The ORCA Library

The ORCA library contains several hundred specialized catalogs and documents about reels, reprinted for members at a nominal cost.

The ORCA Store

The place to find neat stuff! ORCA logo shirts and caps, our annual patch and shirts, t-shirts, books and back issues of The Reel News are available. Visit the website for full access and ordering information.
